Dark Knight and Dawn Warrior are both the warrior classes of MapleStory M (Explorer and Cygnus Knights). Even though Dark Knight used to be a tank in MapleSEA, it's definitely not the same in this mobile version. I've seen Night Lords survive better in expeditions compared to Dark Knight, which is a shame really, considering the latter's DPS isn't high either. Nevertheless, here are some of the best equipment for Dark Knight and Dawn Warrior in MapleStory M. I've chosen the evade build for better survivability. 1. Hat For hat, the best in slot is the Zakum Helmet (unique rank) for all classes, simply because it gives so many awesome stats like critical rate and critical damage. This helmet is only from the Hard Zakum, not the normal one. Nexon accidentally released Chaos Zakum the other day and the legendary Zakum helmet will be the best in slot in the future. 2. Outfit As this build is for evade, the best outfit for Dark Knight and Dawn Warrior is the Agares Bloody Mail. It adds 108 evade at level 1, and continues to go up as you level it up and rank it up to legendary or mythic. To achieve a really high evade stat, you need to stack it up with all these equipment. 3. Gloves As for gloves, the best in slot is the Muspell Warrior Gloves, simply because it adds a lot of accuracy. You will need it for Mu Lung Dojo and high level mobs. While it's not necessary for expeditions, it's still my favorite choice of glove, especially if you can't afford to have two different high rank gloves. Sacrificing a little bit of critical attack or critical damage is necessary if you can't even hit the mob. Some players may prefer a full on critical attack build, but I prefer to go this route. 4. Shoes An even better evade equipment is the Grand Agares Boots, which adds a massive 271 evade at level 1 (compared to outfit). Get this shoes and level it up to increase your evade stat by a lot. 5. Cape As for cape, there are two popular choices. The Sirius Cape adds critical rate while the Bloody Cape adds evade. If you're going for the pure evade route, get the Bloody Cape as it gives 162 evade at level 1. 6. Belt The best belt right now is the Immortal Pharaoh Belt (unique rank), but it's only the best if you have the Immortal Pharaoh Ring (unique) as well. Together, they give a big set bonus of around 200 magic / phy attack. Unfortunately, they are pretty hard to get, and can be obtained from Chaos Nett Pyramid. 7. Shoulders The best shoulders for all classes is the Noble Shoulder, which is why it's so darn expensive. A unique noble shoulder can be at least 100 million mesos in the Trade Station (Asia 2 Union). An easier way to get it is maybe fuse two max level epic shoulders, and pray for a Noble shoulder, or even an emblem version. You can also rank up a max level epic Noble Shoulder, but gold leaves are generally better spent on a weapon. 8. Weapon For both Dark Knight and Dawn Warrior, I prefer the Jaihin Spear (DK) or Jaihin Two-Handed Sword (Dawn Warrior). It adds a good amount of critical damage that may be better than the Agares' critical rate or Briser's boss attack increase. Either way, it doesn't matter which weapon you're using if it's at mythic rank, since the attack is so much higher. In a nutshell This brief equipment guide is only for the evade build. If you wish to go for damage alone, try substituting the evade equipment for critical attack / critical rate items. Those are normally the Eclectic items. That said, the most popular option right now is to go the evade route. Since MapleStory M recently launched, a plethora of new and old players alike are checking out the game. Now, if you're new, you might be a little lost when it comes to class selection in character selection. So what's MapleStory M best class to play right now? This guide will focus on describing the style of each class and what they do best. Once you've gone through it, you can decide for yourself which class is best for you! For now, there are five classes in the game that you can choose from. Let's take a look at them one by one. The thing about online games is that every basic class are usually balanced and equally good. Besides the obvious stats, other criteria that define a "best class" is usually tied to the player themselves. What do you seek from the class? How would you like to play? These factors should be taken into consideration. Simply put, Player A's best class could possibly be Player B's worst class. In this guide, we'll focus on Dark Knight. Disclaimer: This guide is meant for new players and will only cover the basics of each class. An advanced guide with skill breakdown and description will be added later on! Dark Knight Between a rock and a hard place is what you would call a person trying to decide which Warrior class to pick. Luckily, in MapleStory M, only the Dark Knight is available right now. There's no need to worry about Paladin or Hero - for now. Who should play Dark Knight? The Dark Knight's role is basically that of both of its counterpart. It's tanky while at the same time, capable of dishing out damages. With a big health pool plus the ability to heal themselves via summons, this class is for those who enjoy dealing high damage without feeling too squishy. So if you like to deal damage while being able to tank more than a few hits, this is the class for you. Also viable if you like Batman jokes. The goodies and the baddies just from the paragraph above, it may seem like Dark Knight is the best class out there in the warrior branch. Well, that is quite the opposite. Despite being rather balanced, the class does have its own limitation. We'll highlight this class with these four factors: leveling, farming, mobbing, and bossing. Leveling Getting to a point where Dark Knight starts being fun might take a while. Due to its bad mobility in comparison to other class, getting around might feel like a hassle. The class is also quite squishy early on but once you reach end game, you don't even have to worry about this. Farming & Mobbing It takes a while for it to get good. Only when you reach the fifth job will your class be good at farming and mobbing. Prior to the fifth job, this class can feel quite squishy. If you have the patience for it and is the kind of person that thinks "the destination" is worth "the trip" then this probably won't bother you. Bossing Dark Knight is one of the best bossing class in MapleStory. With the capability to completely cancel a boss' skill-cast, you can pretty much nullify a boss buffing itself, making DK extremely valuable and powerful when bossing. So to summarize, they are quite tedious to level and other jobs can do better than when it comes to mobbing but Dark Knight is great at bossing. Skill build for Dark Knight Here's a suggested build for Dark Knight but you're of course, free to modify it to your preferred playstyle. An in-depth and advanced guide will be added later on! Next up we'll take a quick look over at Bishop! Again, I would like to stress that there isn't the best class for everyone. It's not a standardized thing. What you find fun will be the best class for you. For example, it took me three restarts to find my own best class. My advice is to try everything but don't invest in anything until you're sure. Have fun Maple-ing and don't forget to claim those rewards! I eat existential crisis for breakfast. Also loves playing video games in the dark and is very likely to hiss at you if you switch the light on. View source This article is a stub. You can help MapleStory M Wiki by expanding it.
